

With regard to this proceeding:

I do not wish to see the current Indiana Telephone privacy law weakened in any way. I see no benefit that can come from any change to this law - banks that I do business with are quite capable of carrying on a business relationship with me via the postal service or on a one-on-one face to face relationship and not by telephone solicitation.